CAST

Exuberantly facitious and yet poignantly meaningful was the production of You Can't Take It With You by the Class of 1960. The famous play by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman was ably directed by Miss Mary Jane Wilshire.

The setting was the zany household of Martin Vanderhof, a person of not such extreme wealth, but much eccentricity, who had devoted his entire life to doing and helping others to do exactly as they wished. It was a household composed of nine people whose interests, although widely varied, were identical—gleaning from life a true enjoyment.

The climax was reached when the convictions of Mr. Vanderhof clashed with the equally strong convictions of Mr. Anthony Kirby, a wealthy banker. The cause for this was the romance between Vanderhof's granddaughter, Alice, and Kirby's son, Tony. The crisis was finally smoothed out when conformity and the prestige of social position were vanquished by individualism and true love of life.

Just a quiet evening.

Next word—spirit!

It With You"

The National Honor Society, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., was started by the Secondary School Principals' Association to stimulate Scholarship in the secondary schools of the country and to endeavor to place secondary education on a higher level.

The Keystone Chapter, No. 7756, of the National Honor Society was established at an afternoon assembly on April 15, 1959. Initiation ceremonies were conducted by members of the Redbank Valley High School Chapter of the National Honor Society. Taking part in the initiation were Mr. Herbert Chadman, principal of Keystone High School; Mr. Joseph Kata, principal of Redbank Valley High School; and the following students from Redbank Valley: Amy Skinner, Nancy Nulph, Barbara Gathers, Sally Himes, Janet Bish, and Dorothy Smith. Miss Helen Armagost, faculty advisor of the Redbank Valley group, was also present.

Requirements for election to the National Honor Society are high scholarship and better than average ratings of character, leadership, and service. Faculty members familiar with the students eligible make the ratings, which are tabulated by the chapter council consisting of Mr. Herbert Chadman, principal, Miss Mary E. Shaner, advisor, Miss Florence Crisman, Mr. Merrell Barnett, and Mr. Robert Wonderling.

A 1960 project of the chapter is sponsoring the "adoption" and support of an orphan. All pupils in the school are given an opportunity to contribute.

Election of new members to the society from both the junior and senior classes occur each year shortly after the end of the first semester.

Future Business Leaders of America

The Keystone Chapter, No. 2088, of Future Business Leaders of America, with 30 charter members, received its charter on December 18, 1959. The Grove City Chapter installed the local chapter at impressive ceremonies on February 18, 1960.

1959-60 officers are: Wanda Best, president; Barbara Boocks, vice president; Shirley Edder, secretary; Jacqueline Keister, treasurer; Marilyn Waddell, reporter.

Two of FBLA's chief objectives are to develop strong, aggressive leadership and to carry out worthwhile projects. Keystone Chapter has done clerical work for persons in the community. Members have taken part in the State Spelling Contest.

FBLA is the national organization for students in business. It is sponsored by the United Business Education Association, a department of the National Education Association.

"Finder's Keepers"

The hysterical antics of two junior sleuths highlighted the spring production of Finder's Creepers. The play took place in the Nelson Funeral Home, where a wealthy antiquarian had come to hide when someone tried to poison him. When Hercules and Wilbur, visitors at the Nelsons, discovered a walking corpse, the situation became more complicated. However, all the fear experienced by the boys did not come from seeing Mr. Quigley; a great deal of their anxiety was from seeing Daphine, the maid, whom Claude, the caretaker, had been wooing for years. A funeral home is hardly the place where one expects to find romance, but Claude was trying, and the boys succeeded. Likewise did Granny and Jason, hep-cat corpse. It can be truly said that the play ran the scale from humor to pathos, romance to mystery—a happy mixture of fun which delighted every audience.
